Do We Need a Hospital?

THIS question is agitating the minds of everybody at the present time. The near approach of winter, bringing, as it invariably does, colds, influenza, pneumonia, etc., makes one think seriously of the advisability of such an institution.

But prevention is far better than cure! The best, and only reliable way to avoid contracting a chill (which is the forerunner of the above-mentioned ills) is to keep yourself immune from variations of temperature.

Without desiring to minimise in any way the claims of a hospital, we would strongly urge you to consider seriously the need of taking precaution. As we cannot build you a hospital we have devoted our energies towards helping you to keep outside the necessity of one, and the result will be found in our New line Winter Goods—the most complete line ever offered to the public.

There will be no necessity for trying Train Journeys
When you realise that your needs can be dealt with efficiently right here!

You need, particularly, warm underwear. We have anticipated your needs in this direction and you will find that our stock of Ladies Vests, Combination Suits—made from the finest wool and beautifully finished—will delight you by their warmth, softness and durability, and surprise you by their moderate price.

A Coat, Cloak or Jacket is even more necessary. We carry a line which is wonderfully complete: it includes both Ladies and Men's Fur Goods in all shades and colours, Ladies Cloaks and Winter Jackets—in fact we stock everything you could possibly need or desire. We can guarantee to fit you perfectly, and that means you can defy the coldest weather and most piercing wind and know that your appearance is smart, distinctive and correct.

Do not forget your indoor needs—they are important to your health. There is nothing more injurious than heavy bed-clothing. Weight is not warmth and you need warmth. Therefore you should make an early inspection of our new line of Blankets and Eiderdowns. They are, of course, the best—we do not handle any inferior goods—and one of these quilts will keep you warm where four rugs would leave you cold. They are marked at prices which makes this line the wisest and most economical purchase in the town. Ask to see them—they are worth a visit.

THE BOW ISLAND TRADING COMPANY.

The Town Council.

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Thursday evening of last week in the Secretary's office. Present—Mayor Dolmage, Councillors Werts, Bratton, Ellsworth, Hustitt, Robertson and Cotton.

A. W. Hopkins informed the Council that he would send the town ten acres upon the north-west corner of his pre-emption, providing operations were commenced there for drilling for oil or water.

The Secretary was instructed to write the Department with a view to securing a lease on the southeast quarter of 25-10-11.

Mr. Hopkins was given a vote of thanks for his offer.

Dr. Paterson interviewed the Council and impressed upon them the necessity for an infectious hospital. He stated that several cases had come in from the south country and it was necessary to provide for them.

It was moved that the Board of Health (Messrs. Hurd, E. C. Louke and B. Smith) be empowered to rent a suitable building.

Dr. Paterson then introduced the subject of the erection of a general hospital in Bow Island, and suggested that a thorough canvass of the town and district be made.

The Council after consideration passed a motion to the effect that the Board of Health be empowered to secure the services of a capable man to canvass the town and surrounding district with a view to raising funds for the purpose.

B. Smith, applied for permission to erect a building on his premises (Parker & Smith) on Main Street.

Permission was also granted Mr. Hurd to make an addition to his store on Main Street.

Permit was also granted Bow Island Mercantile Co., for addition to their store.

Two tenders, one from the North-West Drilling Co. and one from A. Flint, for the drilling of a gas well, were held over for consideration until the next meeting.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee were requested to make a report on the town's water supply. The meeting then adjourned.

Board of Trade.

A meeting of the above was held in the L.O.O.F. hall on Monday evening last. The attendance although not a large one was fairly good, and considerable interest was displayed. The President, E. C. Louke, occupied the chair.

S. D. McCrea reported that as a result of his interview with the Council a grant of $100 would be given the Board towards a Congress exhibit.

On the motion of A. F. Dolmage and J. Reid it was decided to have to the executive committee the matter of employing a man to take care of the exhibit from Bow Island.

A letter from the Lethbridge Herald regarding the town advertising in that newspaper during the Congress week was ordered to lay on the table.

The question of providing a pamphlet advertising the resources of Bow Island at the Congress was discussed, and eventually

A. F. Dolmage and J. Reid moved and seconded that the matter be left in the hands of the executive, with the proviso that it be not to be expended should not exceed $50.

With regard to the local exhibition, it was decided to judge the exhibits on Saturday, October 12th, the judges appointed being Messrs. J. M. Bratton, A. F. Werts and W. Jones.

Following a discussion on the shortage of cars at this point, the Secretary was instructed to designate a night telegram to Mr. Price at Calgary, drawing his attention to the seriousness of the situation, and requesting some relief.

Considerable discussion ensued upon the question being introduced of erecting a general hospital at Bow Island.

It was finally moved by A. F. Werts, seconded by Rev. Wright, that a mass meeting be held on Monday, October 7th, at 8 p.m., and that the minister be requested to announce the fact in their respective churches.

Dr. Paterson was requested to prepare a plan of a suitable building to gether with an approximate cost. The meeting then adjourned.

Three Weeks Left.

We beg to notify all those who are taking advantage of the Review's circulation scheme to send in their coupons as soon after October 12th as is convenient.

The offer that was made of deducting 25c from every subscription and donating it to whatever church the subscriber designated, we may add, will positively close on October 20th. Our readers thus have 3 clear weeks in which to finish their work. This is ample time to cover each district thoroughly, and we trust that when the coupons are sent in it will be found that some of our churches have benefited to a very considerable extent.

This of course will depend entirely upon the energy the canvassers show and the spirit with which they take the matter up. Some of those who are energetic will no doubt be able to present an extremely favourable report.

We may add that the majority of the present subscriptions to the Review are now due. Consequently the issue of the district is open for canvass.

Fire By-law!

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

IN ORDER to meet the requirements of the Fire By-law recently passed by the Town Council, we ordered and have now in stock a complete line of Metallic Roofing Siding and Fancy Ceilings. We have only to add that the makers are the famous Metallic Roofing Company, to impress upon your opportunity of meeting every requirement of the By-Law, securing yourself against fire and making a bargain buy at the same time. Ask to see this exceptional line.

We carry a complete line of Minors' Supplies. Seal Oil, Lamps, Blasting Powder, Picks, etc. all sold under our well-known business methods—Best Quality at the Lowest Possible Price.

THE HOSPITAL.

It is pleasant to observe with what enthusiasm the idea of establishing a general hospital in Bow Island is being taken up. The matter is being discussed everywhere and warmly up-held. No one questions for a moment its need or the great benefit that it would certainly be to such a great district as ours.

The idea formulated at the Board of Trade meeting on Monday night, to have a mass meeting is an excellent one, for it will at least show the trend of public opinion, and the matter will then take a definite form.

The question of finance is of course the paramount one and should be given the utmost consideration. Bow Island has earned for itself the reputation of a town that does things, and this idea of establishing a hospital has got to be taken up with vim and enthusiasm if it is to take a concrete form. Indications would signify that this enthusiasm has already attained a considerable growth, but the warmest support and the untiring zeal and energy of the residents of both town and country is necessary before real progress is recorded.

Possibly one would be justified in saying that there is hardly a person in this part of Southern Alberta but that would not contribute to the funds. The hospital is an institution that is happily removed from all forms of party controversy. It reckons not of a person's religious creed, it reckons not of his nationality. The hospital will be erected for one and all, rich and poor, young and old, and will find full sanctuary within its doors.

To tend the sick, and to relieve the hours of those who are unfortunate enough to have to seek the care and attention therein bestowed, is one of the first lessons of Christianity, and a pleasure indeed it is to record the fact that there are many who regard those first lessons as their first duty.

It is to be sincerely hoped that the hospital meeting on Monday night will be attended, as it certainly should be, by anyone that can possibly be there. No one should have to admit the following day that "owing to circumstances over which he had no control," etc., etc., he or she was unable to be present. Let the citizen and by your presence and enthusiasm inspire others.

Regarding hospitals, the Town Act gives a Town Council powers as follows:—

Taking over, purchasing, erecting, maintaining and regulating hospital, also granting aid for the erection and maintenance of the same either by direct payment or by guaranteeing the repayment of the principal and interest of any loan obtained by the hospital authorities provided that the amount of any such guarantee together with the principal and interest of the loan shall not exceed the amount fixed by section 178 hereof subject to the ratification of the by-law by two-thirds of the burgesses voting thereon.

Under the new Act respecting Rural Municipalities, the care of the sick is provided for as follows:—

The council of every municipality may make due provision for the care and treatment of any person who has been a resident of the municipality for at least three months who falls ill and who for financial reasons or otherwise is incapable of procuring the necessary medical attendance and treatment.

Should the council deem it advisable to place any such person in any hospital which receives aid from the general revenue of the Province of Alberta the board of such hospital may demand and collect from the council a sum not exceeding one dollar per day for each day's actual care of the patient in such hospital. Any sum thus paid by the municipality to the hospital may be recovered from the said patient by action or by distraint by the treasurer of the municipality or if deemed advisable it may be added to and form part of the taxes levied by the municipality against any land owned by the said patient and shall be collectable in the same manner and to the same extent as all other taxes of the municipality; and in the event of the death of the said patient the council may recover the said sum from his estate, if any.

Notwithstanding anything contained in the next two preceding sections any council may if it thinks fit enter into an agreement with the board of any hospital whereby such board will undertake to care for and treat all such patients of the municipality for such annual sum and subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be agreed upon.

There are three ways of raising money for a hospital, one of which will readily occur to the reader, and which Sunday could be instituted. Committees of ladies (who could resist them?) could be formed in their respective localities and a systematic canvass of the entire country thereby undertaken. However, possibly a central committee will be appointed in Bow Island, and to the members of this committee will be allotted the task of considering ways and means.

The Coming Nation: Nothing amounts to anything except your contribution to the human cause. In that there are no degrees of honor. Whoever has given what he had to give has done as much as the greatest. If he lives in a village and dies unknown to his neighbors he has done a greater work than all the noisy literary artists between here and the hot hinges. The world doesn't need any more literatures. All it needs is that three quarters of its population at present condemned to drudgery, darkness and misery shall have a chance to know life as it ought to be, and until that great change has been effected there is nothing else on earth that is worth thinking about.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE

The following resolution was passed by Bow Island Lodge No. 64, A.F. & A.M., on September 24th:—

Whereas it has pleased the Divine Providence to take from our midst John A. Donovan, a true friend and brother; "The challenge has come and taken from our side a loved associate, a cherished companion in life, and often as the trumpet sounds its warning notes to summon us to the realm of the sepulchre, we cannot contemplate the loss of earth unmoved." "He who new slumbers in that last long, unbroken sleep of death was our brother, he is now removed beyond the effect of our praise or our grief. That we loved him our presence here evinces, and we remember him in scenes to which the world was not a witness, and where the better feelings of humanity were exhibited without disguise." "The memory of his virtues lingers in our remembrance, and reflects its shining lustre beyond the portals of the tomb." "The earthly vase which contained precious colors will lose some of its fragrance, though the clay be broken and shattered."

So let it be resolved here to-night with subdued hearts and softened affections to extend our sympathy to the widow, daughter and friends of our deceased brother.

Committee—A. M. Flint, S. D. McCrea and J. M. Irvan.

FROM COAST TO COAST.

Thomas W. Wilby, traveler, author and journalist, who is making the first automobile trip across the Dominion of Canada from coast to coast as path-finder with the object of tracing a direct and easy accessible route in connection with the Canadian Highways Association and whose pennant he is flying, arrived in Bow Island Tuesday. His car is of the Reno type, 30 H. power, 5 seated.

He started from Halifax, N.S. on August 27th, 1912, carrying unsealed mail to the mayors of Vancouver and Victoria, B.C., the Bishop of Vancouver, the premier of B. C., and other notables of the far west, hoping that the result of his tour will be the means of directly connecting the east and west together.

Mr. Wilby left Walsh, on the Alberta and Saskatchewan border line, at which place he was met by a Mr. Sam's who was sent by the automobile club of Medicine Hat and who piloted him to Bow Island.

Mr. Wilby speaks in high praise of the general good condition of the trails and highways of Alberta so far as he has gone.

Special Freight Rate

Lethbridge, Alta. Sept.—The man agent of the Dry-Farmed Products Exposition, to be held in Lethbridge Oct. 10-20 next, has arranged for a special freight rate on all exhibits, and the regulations governing the same should be known to every intending exhibitor before he ships his exhibit.

In substance the regulations state that on exhibits from points in the United States west of the Missouri river and all points in Canada there will be effective a freight rate of the one way tariff for the round trip. The detail of the working out of this plan varies with the different railroads, but in every case full one-way tariff must be paid in advance and a certificate secured from the superintendent of the exposition that the shipment is on exhibition. This certificate, accompanied by the original expense bill or freight receipt, the property not having changed ownership, will entitle the shipper either to a rebate of the original charge or free return of the shipment over the same lines, depending upon the rulings of the railroads companies involved. These various rulings contain many exceptions, but in practically every case where an exhibit is eligible for entry in the Exposition of Dry-Farmed Products the shipper may feel assured that the round trip charges will be equivalent to the one-way tariff, the property to be shipped from Lethbridge Alberta, within 10 days after the close of the exposition; and the return journey, where free, to be at the owner's risk.

Exhibitors should be sure to prepare all freight charges on the going trip, keep their way bills or freight receipts and secure a certificate of exhibition from the superintendent of exhibits.

Complete instructions in detail will be sent intending exhibitors upon request to John T. Burns, executive secretary, 3000 Lethbridge, Alta. Special railway fares are also obtainable by exhibitors on securing a certificate therefor of the secretary of the International Dry-Farming Congress.

Language and Religion

The man who tells this story claims that it is here as a truism. At any rate the language makes a true bill.

A preacher had delivered his prize sermon, exhorting his hearers to embrace the religious life and scorn the trappings of wealth and late supper. He concluded with the words: "My brethren, let not this world rob you of a peace which it can neither give nor take away."

A Feminine Misunderstanding—Thoua Stuchart, who is an advocate of divorce when married people are unhappy, tells this story:

A woman in one of the large cities of this country was one day persuaded to go to a spiritualist séance in order to hold converse with her dead husband.

My dear George, said the widow, in tears, are you happy where you are? Happier than I was on earth with you, George answered with alacrity.

This was something of a puzzle and the widow paused to decide what she should ask next.

What is it like in heaven, dear George? she finally asked.

Idyllic! exclaimed George, I'm not in heaven.

QUESTION OF OWNERSHIP

Inscription on Barrel Proves It Genuine Retic of Notorious High-wayman

London.—(Dick Turpin)—simultaneously a highwayman, cattle thief, smuggler, house-breaker, highwayman and horse thief—the hero of our childhood, has been proved undoubtedly even of the pistol just discovered by workmen in the ceiling of the Hammersmith Hotel.

The pistol was undoubtedly of the date 1735, said the manager of Messrs. Weyland, Richards & Co., limited, gunmakers of New Bond Street, where the pistol is now on view.

You see that it is a double-barrelled horse pistol with dunt locks, smooth-bore barrels, 16 gauge and of the exact pattern used during the seveneenth and eighteenth centuries.

We have had the assurance of an expert engraver that the inscription on the barrel—Presented to Dick Turpin at the White Bear Inn, Drury Lane, 1735—is also of that period. The workmanship throughout is very fine.

The handle is of English walnut. The flash holes are lined with gold, run the hand around the breech end of each barrel is gold. It probably cost about £100 originally.

The pistol is inscribed in four places in this inscribed pistol, "Baker, London," who was the predecessor of the well known Enfield Rifle, pistol maker to the prince of Wales.

The mystery of how it came to be found in the Hammersmith Hotel may be explained by the fact that history tells us of a crook who Turpin stayed at the inn and was shot through the hand here.

Of course the question of ownership has arisen. Since the pistol was discovered on the upper side of the plaster ceiling above the historical Charles Bonnet at the back of the Red Lion Club at Hammersmith, claims have been put by Mr. Meers, Lady Glyn who has purchased the ceiling, by the lease of the property as occupier, and also by the brother of the property.

DICK TURPIN'S PISTOL

Rochester and His Rocks

Just because John D. Rockefeller has made more money than he can count without the aid of nineteen clerks and forty-five assistants, he is mentioned a well-to-do citizen of fortune.

According to his latest narrative, Rockefeller told a close friend—and that close goes both ways—one morning that he would like to borrow five thousand dollars and that he must send it to him to do his business.

The friend went down to the house of his work, and pretty soon sent a big banker.

I wish, said the banker, if you see Mr. Rockefeller this afternoon, you would tell him that I have found a place to put that ten thousand dollars which he asked me to loan.

The friend snaked like a goldfish, and proceeded on his way, mounting another of the town's leading bankers.

By the bye, said the banker, when you see Rockefeller this afternoon, please tell him that I have found a man who wants to borrow ten thousand dollars.

The friend staggered on, and met third banker, who was under the other two captains of finance had said. Then he went back and found Rockefeller.

John, he said, in astonishment, when I left you this morning you told me you had to borrow five thousand dollars, and all day long you have been telling me that you asked them to lend ten thousand for you.

Well, said Rockefeller, that's fine! I suppose I may safely assume now that my credit is established in this town. I'll just step out and borrow that five thousand I need.

Will you be one of the 108 farmers who will receive our Prize Contest checks?

There will be twelve cash prizes in each of the nine provinces (108 in all) in the 1912 Prize Contest for Canadian Farmers. The 1911 Contest was so successful in awakening interest in the use of Concrete on the farm, that a second contest, in which three times as many prizes are offered, was decided upon for this year.

The Contest this year is divided into three classes, "A," "B," and "C," and there will be four prizes in each. (First prize, $100; second prize, $50; third prize, $25; fourth prize, $10.) There are also three $100 prizes, three $25 prizes, and three $10 prizes, for each province.

DESCRIPTION OF CLASSES

In Each Class there will be First, Second, Third and Fourth Prizes ($50, $25, $10, and $10) for each Province.

CLASS "A"—Prizes to be awarded to the four best concrete workmen in each province. Prizes to be awarded to the four best concrete workmen in each province who used the most concrete in their work.

CLASS "B"—Prizes to be awarded to the four best concrete workmen in each province who used the least concrete in their work.

CLASS "C"—Prizes to be awarded to the four best concrete workmen in each province who used the least concrete in their work.

Don't think that you must use a large quantity of concrete in order to win a prize. The quantity of concrete does not count in Classes "B" and "C." Many of last year's prize winners used very little concrete.

When you enter the Contest, you have a chance to win a cash prize as well as the publicity that you get by advertising your concrete work.

If you have a copy, be sure and ask for it. It will tell you all about the contest and the prizes.

Asking For Ellen

How She Tested Their Mettle

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Harold Spencer, clerk in the clothing store of Bismarck, delicately brushed a grain of dust from his pale nose and sneezed and glanced nervously at Ellen Dugane.

"Nellie" he began softly. "Ellie" corrected Miss Dugane loftily.

"But Steve Morris calls you Nellie," protested Harold indignantly.

"It's your name Steve Morris" demanded Ellen.

"Of course it isn't. Well, if you will treat a fellow that way when he is asking you to marry him—"

"Is that what you're trying to do?" interrupted Ellen Dugane, with a mischievous eye.

"Of course it is," responded the startled Harold, mopping his brow with a snowy handkerchief, yet vaguely relieved that the phrasing of the monstrous question was not too necessary. "Will you?"

"Will I?" mused Ellen Dugane, pressing a slender forefinger against her white forehead, where her dark curling hair grew over straight black brows and blue Irish eyes.

"Why should I marry you, Harold?"

"Because I love you, Nellie. I don't think I could ever be happy without you," he pleaded.

"It might be a long time before it's not enough for me," decided Ellen.

Harold's long, pale face lengthened with disappointment.

"You've met my father, haven't you?" she demanded.

"Yes," answered Harold.

"Well, you go and ask father if you can marry me, if he says 'Yes' I'll do it," Ellen resumed the slow rocking of her chair.

"I don't know him," protested Harold—"I don't know very well. I've met him only once."

"When was that?"

"In the fall one evening last week. He was coming in just as I was going out. He seemed to be put out about something," Harold confessed, somewhat reluctant of his own account.

Ellen sighed. "I thought it was some one else who was put out!" she cried indignantly.

"That's right," Harold said, "but I'm not sure."

"I'm not afraid of Mr. Dugane," announced Harold with all the bravado he could summon to the occasion.

recollection of the great brawny blacksmith whom he had met in the little front hall one evening.

Ellen looked a little anxious as she watched her suitor's face.

down the street toward the gate of the village, where her father's smiling face beamed the road, coming to the necessities of the farmers as they went to and fro.

"I wonder—I wonder if Harold will dare to go and talk to pa," mused Ellen doubtfully as Harold's dapper little form disappeared from the doorway.

"He'll do it," she said, "he'll do it." Her fair face paled as she remembered the result.

"That was on a Saturday afternoon, and for Harold Spencer it had happened to be a half holiday."

It was also a half holiday for Steve Morris, a young market gardener, who had also been paying a visit to Ellen Dugane. Now he drove up to Ellen's door in a shiny top buggy drawn by a gleaming black mare named Nellie.

A few minutes later Ellen and Steve were driving toward the mountain road, Ellen with a deep blush on her cheeks that had not been there before Steve was a handsome black-haired black-eyed young man with a strong chin and a resolute mouth that was very tender now as he looked down at the face of the girl beside him.

"Nellie," he half whispered—"Nellie, look at me!"

But Ellen's fair, rose face was turned away toward the distant hills.

"Do you mean if I can't marry you?" he asked.

"I don't mind looking at you, Steve, only—only I can't be fair to everybody," said Ellen in a distressed tone.

All the country was so full of love that only a girl being wooed by the man she loved. In the instant she had understood what Steve Morris meant to ask her that afternoon she realized that in fairness to Harold Spencer, whom she had met and who had asked her to marry him, she must withhold her answer to Steve until Harold had proved his rival. She wished she had not been so sure of the slimy youth's cowardice.

"You have to be fair to everybody, don't you?"

"What do you mean?" Steve's arm was stealing around Ellen's arm.

"I'll marry you if father says 'Yes,'" breathed Ellen indignantly.

"You go and ask father, and if he says 'Yes' I'll marry you."

"The girl you will" quoth the astonished and indignant Mr. Morris, withdrawing his arm. "I'm not asking you, I'm asking you, Nellie, dear. If you love me well enough the little house is ready for you, and I'll wait for you."

Brigade a-packing back to her husband as soon as you'll say the named word.

Come, now! Leave your suit out and let me see it. It's a good one, isn't it? You'll be happy with me."

"Yes, but Steve, you've got to ask him to marry you," repeated Ellen almost breathlessly. She was so excited by the prospect of the marriage.

"It'll be handiwork with his duties for me," said Steve Morris, who was now looking at her with a mischievous eye.

"There was the old quarrel in your Aunt's that made them as quarrelsome as does with me, isn't it?"

"I'm not afraid of him," boasted Steve, "I'll not let him be a bit of anything," added Ellen.

"Where will you have me, Steve?" asked Ellen, "I'll not let him be a bit of anything," added Ellen.

FOR CLEAN CREAM.

In favorable weather keep the cream in the house as much as possible, thus preventing the accumulation of moisture in the stable.

Remove the dirt from the cow's udders and teats before milking and wipe the teats with a clean cloth.

Do not feed hay or dented feed just before milking.

To clean pails and cans first wash them with clean water and a mineral washing powder, then rinse them well, acid them and allow them to drain.

Take the separator apart and wash it thoroughly after each separation.

Remove the cream to a milk house or cool place where the air is pure and where the can may be placed in a trough or barrel of cold water fresh from the well.

Do not mix warm cream with cold cream nor keep cream in casks or cans.

See that all cans and tins are perfectly clean and dry, especially in the seams and crevices.

Twelve the cream separator during hot weather. Make at least one change in summer and two in the winter.

At all times protect the can containing the cream from cold and dust by covering the can completely with a clean can.

BUTTER IN SUMMER.

Expert's Method of Handling Cream to Secure Best Flavor.

With the soft butter which is produced at this season of the year and the warm weather which is so difficult to secure a fat bodied butter. The softness of the fat causes the butter to come in a soft condition. When butter is worked in this condition it becomes sticky and greasy.

When placed on the table this kind of butter is not fit for use.

MARKING LINEN.

What Fashion Designs is Modish This Summer.

Fashions in marking linen change to some degree every season, so that the housewife who has a few yards of linen from a half inch to four or five inches long is perforce, both a sewer and a designer.

To follow a list: For tablecloths, a narrow border of small, simple, and a few inches long; napkins, a wide border of small, simple, and a few inches long. Other articles are marked according to the taste of the housewife. The best method of marking linen is a problem which presents itself very often.

There are many ways to choose between the plain embroidered initial, stamped either in script or block type. Perhaps the most attractive method of marking large initials is to use broader the letters over the net, cutting away the linen underneath so that when finished it will give a transparent effect that is unusual and beautiful.

The work is not difficult and can be done rapidly by one who has any experience in needlework. Sketch the letter and then the proper position on the linen or you can transfer an initial from a card in the same manner with a warm iron. The letter is then lined or backed with fine net.

THE WHITE RABBIT.

Lord Pelham Had to Wait For His Chance to Succeed.

Lord Pelham lived in a castle not very far from London, near the Thames. He had the habit of going to the country every day. One day, in the year 1811, when he was in the country, he saw a man coming towards him.

"My lord," said the man, "can't you give me a rabbit from your garden?"

Lord Pelham shook his head and said, "I am sorry, but I cannot give you a rabbit from my garden."

"What shall I do with it?" replied the man.

"I am certain, my lord, that you will buy my white rabbit," said the man, placing a revolver on my lord's breast.

"Well, I see I am in your power, and must buy the rabbit. How much do you want for it?"

"One hundred pounds sterling, my lord."

"One hundred pounds for a rabbit?"

"Not a shilling less, and I am sure you will give it to me."

"You shall have the money

Elm Loam in Canadian Copeage

Although the elm still leads among the woods and for slack copeage, spruce is rapidly supplanting it. In the total output of barrels in the Dominion last year, there were used, according to figures compiled by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, 80,016,000 pieces of elm, 10,000,000 of spruce, and 10,000,000 of fir. The total value of the output was $7,704,000.

Black Copeage Is of Vastly Greater Importance than Elm Copeage in Canada.

This is because the majority of Canadian products are of a rough and dry nature, such as lime, potatoes, apples, dry fish, flour, cereals, etc., and because Canadian woods are best suited to slack copeage.

White oak, the only wood which can be used for containers of alcohol.

In Canada, has been practically exhausted in Canadian woodlands. In all only 2,000,000 oak staves were imported. At such an estimate, the Forestry Branch places the minimum amount of material used in the manufacture of all classes of copeage at $2,500,000 per year, made up as follows: staves, $2,000,000; heads, $250,000; and hoops, $250,000.

A Mild Pill for Delicate Women.

The most delicate woman can undergo a course of Parnell's Vegetable pills without any loss of elegance or sequences. Their action, while whole, is mild and gentle, and they are not violent pains or purgings follow their use, as thousands of women who have used them can testify. They are, therefore, strongly recommended to all women who are anxious to be free of the disorders of the digestive organs which it is.

Mr. William Sikes had found what, in his opinion, was a snug crib. It was a country mansion, and the mode of access was easy. He waited till the house was empty, and then he entered. Grasping the key, he showed it and carefully climbed up the side of the house. He reached the top of the stairs, and stood in the doorway.

His mind dwelt on the jewelry and plate that was so neatly within his grasp. Then his dream was abruptly broken by the opening of the window.

Hands up, or I'll fire!

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

Improving Conditions on the Farm Through Systematic Work

Only a few years back it was the fashion, wherever conversation turned upon life on the farm, to shake one's head and quote statistics from the insanity records about the farm wife.

In the last decade club women have become interested in Mrs. Loyd, out of Minnesota, is reported to have done woman service in her effort to carry club life into the rural districts.

And city women have even been over the little farm Mrs. A. Shultz, editor of the Farm World of Chicago, says that in a most positive way women are lending their influence to the spread of the little farm.

There is no doubt that the influence of women is being felt in the most important and most far-reaching of all movements along the line of domestic improvement in farm life has been, according to the New York Post, the organization of the International Congress of Farm Women.

The organization of these industrial women has been a most important step in the history of the farm.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of the homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $2.00 per acre.

Duties.—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to clear each homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Duties.—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $200.00.

W. W. CORRY, Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.
